TENNESSEE NEWS
CUT TO THE QUICK
FOR BUSY READERS

Farm community meetings are planned for Campbell county this week at which subjects pertaining to livestock and to orchards will be discussed.

Bristol's Red Cross society, with a membership of upwards of 200, has named a complete list of committees and is ready for active work.

After subsisting for four months on parched corn, General Cooper, fugitive from justice from Louisville, was captured in an abandoned mine near Peters, Ten.

Reports reaching the department of agriculture from the wheat growing sections of the state indicate that much damage has been done the growing grain.

The Tennessee general assembly was convened at the state capitol Monday following a recess of three weeks. During the recess the various committees have been at work and some of them will be ready to make their reports.

One hundred and seventy-five Ward-Belmont girls will leave Nashville this week on a special train for Washington, where they will witness the inaugurations of President Woodrow Wilson.

The election to vote on the proposition of issuing $35,000 in bonds for the purpose of erecting an adequate high school building in Humboldt, was carried by the bond advocates by a vote of 171 to 4.

Bristolians are making ready to welcome home Company H of the Tennessee state militia. The Bristol boys now on the Mexican border are, according to information received from Capt. Buckles, expected to leave camp in about two weeks.

Ten big distinctive entertainments will be given in Memphis on the occasion of the formal dedication of the new Harahan bridge on May 22, 23 and 24. This series of events, as planned, will eclipse anything of the kind ever held below the Mason and Dixon line.

The city commissioners of Chattanooga decided not to submit the question of issuing $400,000 in bonds to a vote of the people, but to issue the securities in the regular way as soon as the proper authority from the general assembly can be obtained.

President Wilson signed the Smith-Hughes vocational bill. It provides federal co-operation with the states in establishing industrial schools, appropriating $1,700,000 this year and increasing to $7,300,000 in nine years. Tennessee may avail herself of part of this fund.

After the first day of March Tennessee will be one of the most arid spots in the world, when the famous "bone dry" law takes effect, prohibiting the importation of liquor into the state by common carriers, or the sale of liquor in any way except on the prescription of a physician filled at a recognized drug store.

A canning factory with the latest and most up-to-date machinery is to be built in Jonesboro. R. G. Kinzie, of Boone's Creek, is at the head of this enterprise, and for a number of years he has been in the canning business. The farmers around Jonesboro will plant large crops of tomatoes and beans to be used at this cannery.

Considerable interest and speculation is attached to the offer made by Kingsport for the new $11,000,000 federal armor plate plant. Inasmuch as some of the strongest financiers of New York are backing the interests at Kingsport, there are several rumors as to offers that have been made to get the plant for Kingsport.

The legislative committee investigating the abolition of the fee system among county officials will recommend that the fee system be retained in counties having a population under 25,000. Under this condition, the fee system will be abolished in only twenty-five counties if the bill introduced becomes a law.

Queen and Crescent Passenger Train No. 4, en route from New Orleans to Cincinnati, struck a rock weighing about 40 tons when near Oakdale. The engine turned over and rolled down a hill to the bank of the Emory river. Three coaches were derailed, but did not turn over. Several tramps riding the blind baggage were slightly injured.

While flying at an altitude of 500 feet an army biplane was caught in a gust of wind and dashed to the earth at the army aviation school in Memphis. C. M. Pond, instructor, and Geo. A. Kinberg, a student, were seriously injured. Kinberg lost an eye and suffered internal injuries. Pond, who was driving, lost his front teeth and was cut about the head and face.

An attempt made by three negroes to hold up the Cuban Special, Illinois Central through train, at Noncannah yards, south of Memphis, was frustrated by the gameness displayed by the engineer, Harry Norton, of Memphis, and the train crew and the timely arrival of a big squad of police. After a pistol battle one of the negroes was captured. The other two escaped.

That the railroads would be the first arm of the United States in the event of war is declared in the declaration of George B. Dixon, Vice President of the Pennsylvania Railroad, who is making a tour of Southern cities. In his address at Nashville he enumerated the many advantages of the railroads of this country over the warring nations.

At a meeting of Old Glory chapter, D. A. R., at Franklin, a committee was appointed to seek the support of the Tennessee legislators to have a bill presented similar to that of Indiana, providing for the registration of farms and country places in Tennessee. Old Glory chapter has done much splendid work for Williamson county and is one of the most progressive chapters of its size in Tennessee.

Bristol was proud in connection with her celebration of the anniversary of George Washington's birthday, to be able to claim perhaps the only living grandson of a hero of the American revolution. This citizen is Charles L. Sevier, one of Bristol's most patriotic and valuable citizens. Mr. Sevier is now in his 70th year, and although the grandson of a hero of the revolution, is still apparently a man of but little more than middle age.

Governor Rye has been asked for suggestions as to ways and means in which the organized women of Tennessee may best serve the Volunteer state and the nation in the event war is declared. The request was made of Governor Rye by Miss Margaret Ervin, President of the Tennessee Equal Suffrage Association, in view of a conference of state suffrage presidents who are to meet next week in Washington to discuss the question.

The Hamilton county court, in special session, voted to issue $784,000 in bonds under the authority of an enabling act passed by the present general assembly. Of this amount $80,000 is to be used to pay for building Suck Creek road, $54,000 to pay floating school debt inherited from the previous administration, $550,000 for the new Market street bridge and $100,000 to pay for over-drafts of the Grammar school board.

Charged with having violated rules of the Order of Railway Conductors, by instituting a lawsuit to prevent enforcement of a general strike order last September, without first having exhausted all resources within the organization, 14 passenger conductors of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad were placed on trial before their lodge in executive session in Louisville. After several days' session they are exonerated.

Saturday was the busiest day in tobacco circles in Clarksville this year. Nearly 500,000 pounds were sold on the loose floors and at prices that seemed to be satisfactory to the farmers. Over 300 loads of tobacco were received in Clarksville Friday night and some of the streets were blocked. The market was strong and active. Good leaf brought from $8 to $13.75 and lugs ranged from $6.75 to $9.25. A fine re-handling season has been on and the farmers have taken advantage of it.

Co-operation of the people throughout the southland is invited in providing for the entertainment of the host of Confederate veterans who will be in Washington, the national capital, upon the occasion of the Confederate reunion, the week of June 4. H. F. Cary, who is general passenger agent of the Southern Railway, is chairman of the reunion's finance committee. Contributions should be sent to Mr. Cary, whose office is in Washington, and who will acknowledge receipt.

An improved mail service to the inaugurated over the North Folk extension of the Louisville & Nashville railroad March 1 will greatly facilitate development work and business and commercial interests to this rapidly developing section, and give mail from Knoxville and up-state Kentucky points several hours ahead of the present service. This will give eastern Kentucky four mail trains daily instead of two and will prove a great benefit to the mountain coal fields.

Breeders of purebred livestock in Rutherford county have organized themselves into a county organization which they claim is the first county organization in the South to take the advanced stand they are taking. Forty-one farmers became charter members. A fee of $5.00 is charged for membership and the dues are $2.50 a year, payable in advance. The money in the treasury is to be used to advertise the livestock of the county. The association stands back of the livestock sold by its members.

R. B. Cooke, of Chattanooga, appeared before the legislative finance committee, in the interest of the Chattanooga District fair. He said the fair in five years had grown to the proportions of the Tri-State fair at Memphis, and was entitled to be recognized by the state. He said the state had divided $30,000 between the three divisions of the state fairs. He thought Chattanooga should be given $10,000 for two years. He said no individual profited from the fair as the money made was given back in premiums.

On recommendation of Adjutant General C. B. Rogan, the war department has directed that the First and Third Tennessee Infantry shall arrive at their home stations ten days apart. The First regiment will be mustered out at Memphis, and the Third at Knoxville. It is thought that the First regiment will be the first to arrive. The quartermaster has been instructed to proceed to Memphis and Knoxville at the proper time and pay off the men. The Third regiment will leave San Benito on March 17.

Unless the board of control decides to abandon for whites the hospital for the insane at Bolivar and use it altogether for negroes, the board will probably recommend that in addition to the present buildings at Lyons View, a new and entirely up-to-date structure be built. "The board needs a million dollars with which to improve hospital facilities for the insane," said W. T. Murray, a member of the board. "According to careful estimate there are 2,800 insane persons in Tennessee who are being cared for outside of state institutions."
